Young photography is front and center at Photo Basel, a gathering of 30 art galleries and image enthusiasts at Ackermannshof in Switzerland.

From June 17-20, Photo Basel will showcase the work of artists under the age of 40. Exhibitors include Stieglitz 19 (Belgium), Galerie Esther Woerdehoff (Paris), Bildhalle (Zürich) and Grundemark Nilsson (Stockholm/Berlin). These galleries specialize in contemporary photography. Experimental forms of photography such as collages and mixed media will also be on view.

The schedule coincides with the world-renowned Art Basel. The organizers of Photo Basel, however, are an independent set. The main difference between the two events is the focus on photography. Art Basel is a repository for painting and sculpture, with occasional photography exhibits. Photo Basel will broaden the focus on photographic art, a timely effort considering the explosion of images in the 21st century.
